ANNOUNCEMENTS

State Forestry Annual.
The annual meeting of the Connecticut Forestry association will be held at 11 a. m. Saturday, May 24th, 1919, at Pine Point Grove, near Hazardville, Conn., on lands of A. D. Bridge & Sons Co. One of the members of the firm will discuss the results of private forestry in growing and logging pine as practiced on the Bridge property. Following the annual business meeting, Prof. J. W. Toumey will speak on the subject of "Co-operation Between Public and Private Owners."

Building Lots Sold.

Through the agency of A. V. Covelio, S. Rizzuto has sold his four building lots, situated on lower Routh street, to Frank Falcone.

BASS-CLEF AT SLATER HALL.

The Bass-Clef club will again be in Slater hall on Friday, the 23d. The temporary closing of Slater hall in the early part of the season made the usual January concert an impossibility. Several out of town concerts have been sung but this will be the only public appearance of the club in Norwich this season.

This organization has come to occupy a very important place in the musical life of our city and while the men's clubs all over the country it has been somewhat reduced in numbers by opening bill for today will be "The Office Boy," a very funny comedy. The usual picture programme will be shown just before the comedy at each performance.

Today the feature picture is entitled "When a Woman Strikes." The melodramatic sensation of the season, with a powerful company of celebrated players, including Rosemary Theby, Ben Wilson, Neva Gerber and Murdoch MacQuarrie. The Kinogram, world's greatest and best news film, and a Christie comedy make up today's picture programme, to be shown each afternoon and evening before the musical comedy. There will be a complete change again on Wednesday.

BREED THEATRE.

William Farnum is a thrilling story in "The Man Hunter," written especially for him by Frank Lloyd, his director. This is the big picture that will be shown at the Breed theatre today and Tuesday.

Mr. Farnum runs up and down the entire scale of emotions in this de luxe production. He begins as a wealthy American in London, quickly drops to the position of a steerage passenger, and then becomes a longshoreman in New York. Finally he is a stowaway and is wrecked on a tropical island with an oil king's daughter and the one man in the world whom he hates—the man who had started him on his downward slide by selling him a huge block of stock which was supposed to be worthless. This man is killed in a terrific fight on the island. When Mr. Farnum and the girl return to New York the former learns that the stock which he practically worthless when he bought it has become very valuable; in fact he is a millionaire. The old king's daughter loved him, she craved his society; but it was not until the money had been swept away that he even thinks of marrying the girl.

Other pictures on the bill include "The Lightening Raider," a Harold Lloyd comedy and the Pathe News.

Quality, Not Quantity Will Continue Aim of Norwich Concern.

The Norwich Tire & Rubber Company, of Norwich, Connecticut, while increasing its production to keep pace with the demand for both Fabric and Cord Casings is not a contender in the made race for quantity production.

The Norwich Tire factory has always contended, says Ward T. Alling, of the Alling Rubber Company, distributors of Norwich tires throughout this vicinity, that quality product was the most satisfactory and profitable to both the tire user and manufacturer and the policy in vogue since the inception of their plant in Cheshire in 1909, from which they are adding five or ten per cent. additional cost when it will insure fifty to a hundred per cent. more service to the user, will be adhered to in the future as on the past.

A cheaply constructed tire requires practically as much material as a high-grade one. Although the material sells at a lower market price, much effort is required to deliver cheap tire to its destination or ultimate buyer as a good one and also a much labor is required to build and deliver cheap casing, although the cost of labor may be less—practically as much labor at least is necessary to build a poor tire as a good one, although the labor be of inferior standard.

OBITUARY.

Rev. Oliver Henry Raftery, D. D.
Portland, May 18.—Rev. Oliver Henry Raftery, rector of Trinity church, Portland, died about 4 o'clock yesterday morning after an illness of a few days. He was born May 31, 1853; graduated from the Episcopal academy in Cheshire in 1870, from Trinity college, Hartford, in 1873, and from the Berkeley Divinity school in 1876. He received the degree of D. D. from Trinity college in 1908.

He married June 2, 1881, Mary Edwards, daughter of Rev. William Henry Clarke, rector of St. Paul's church, Augusta, Ga. She died in 1887. For his second wife he married Adelaide Emery Brainerd of Portland, who survives him, with one son, Harold B., a student at the Cambridge Theological school, and a daughter, Elizabeth B. Raftery.

Dr. Raftery was rector of St. Peter's church, Cheshire, for ten years and rector of Trinity church, Portland, since March 29, 1886, covering one of the longest pastorates in the history of that parish.

He was archdeacon of Middlesex county from 1895 to 1918, an dwas one of the examining chaplains of the diocese of Connecticut.

Dr. Raftery was an exceptional preacher, a remarkably good parish priest and a person who was much beloved by all.
